Entropic Graph Applications

A. Hero
Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science
The College of Engineering
University of Michigan
USA

This talk will present several applications of entropic graphs to computer vision problems including: multi-modality medical image registration, entropy and divergence estimation, manifold learning, and pattern recognition.